COMING TO FAIRMONT OPERA HOUSE.

Watahasso (Bright Star) the Penobscott Indian maiden whose glorious voice has been likened to "crushed silk plush, and liquid melody," set all Europe singing her praises. She will be heard with Leltoy, Talma and Roscoe, the great triple entente of illusionists, magicians and necromancers, who come to the Fairmont opera house Wednesday night, September 22.

STAGE GOSSIP

ENGLISH MAGICIAN'S TRICKS.

His Talents Are Wasted in a Neutral Land. He Could Make a German Gun Disappear.

The famous English magician, Sorvais Leltoy, of Leltoy, Talma and Roscoe, the triple alliance of conjurers, who are scheduled to appear at the Grand Wednesday, Sept. 22, has made many tours of the world and has had many unique experiences.

After a performance one night in Calcutta, Leltoy was approached by a maharajah, or chieftain, who wanted the mystery man to perform before his family in a nearby township. Leltoy's consideration was established on a reasonable basis through the fact that only the family of the maharajah was to witness the performance.

At the appointed time Leltoy arrived at the East Indian ruler's establishment and was greatly surprised to see a rudely constructed playhouse crowded to suffocation. The magician called his host aside and asked him why all the natives in the township were on hand, reminding him that their agreement called for the attendance of only members of the maharajah's family.

Whereupon the maharajah proudly informed Leltoy that all who were present were members of his family. They consisted of 60 wives and 380 children.

VIVIAN MARTIN IN "THE LITTLE DUTCH GIRL."

Comedy, drama, pathos and beauty in this film.

World Film Corporation presents the five-part photoplay, "The Little Dutch Girl," based upon a novel by the late Mille de Ramee, who, under the pen name of Ouida published many books, several of which have been successfully adapted for the regular stage and for the motion picture. The director of this picture is Mons. Emile Chautaur, who is especially qualified to translate Ouida into motion picture form.

Vivian Martin, in the character of the Little Dutch girl, as a part well suited to her dainty personality and style of acting; she has a screen career from infancy to girlhood full of beauty, charm, pathos and tragedy. Discovered as a foundling by a good-natured and lonely gardener who adopts her, she passes a happy girlhood; when her foster-father dies and leaves the little Dutch girl alone in the world, her sorrows commence. She attracts the love of a great painter and loves him in return, but when she discovers that the object of her admiration is a false idol and loves other woman, the poor little Dutch girl, like a fragile flower in an icy blast, withers and dies.

The picture, which has the advantage of most beautiful settings; delightful costuming and clever characterization, has a fine cast to support the star, including Dorothy Fairchild, Julia Stuart, Chester Barnett and John Bowers.

"The Little Dutch Girl" will be shown at the Grand Theatre tonight.

Ice Cream as a Food Product

The government recognizes ice cream as a food product of importance and imposes certain standards of purity in ingredients in recognition of the great amount of ice cream consumed. We place our standard of wholesomeness in Robinson's Velvet ice cream even higher than pure food law requirements. It is not our aim to simply keep our ice cream from being inadequate, but to put the greatest possible amount of food value and nourishment in it.

Ice cream can not be made better, purer or more palatable than Robinson's Velvet.

PICTURES WORTH HAVING.

Everyone Can Enjoy the Rotogravure Section of the Sunday Gazette Times.

The newest and finest thing in newspaper illustrating is the Rotogravure Picture Section of the Sunday Gazette Times. This section was added to the big Pittsburgh newspaper only on August 29, but the several numbers that have been issued have been the most satisfying pictorial efforts we have seen. Each number has been better than its predecessor, so we expect improvement to continue, though it is hard to see how perfection can be bettered.

There are four full-size pages of excellent new pictures of people and scenes in Pittsburgh, Western Pennsylvania and the world at large, including exceptional views of the war in Europe. They are human interest pictures and beautiful. The rotogravure process enables perfect reproductions of photographs in soft tones. The result is real art. Everyone interested in people and events should have these pictures every week. They contribute to one's education; they develop one's appreciation of art; they are a treat to lovers of the beautiful.

The rotogravure process is very expensive, but the Pittsburgh Gazette Times has not increased the price of that great Sunday paper; its readers are gainers by the publishers' enterprise in adding this wonderfully beautiful picture section to what was already a most complete newspaper. It is pleasant to learn that the innovation is appreciated. The sale of the Pittsburgh Sunday Gazette Times is increasing by leaps and bounds and orders for that paper must be given early to insure any but regular patrons getting it. The Sunday Gazette Times with its Rotogravure Picture Section and all the other good things it contains—and you never find anything objectionable in it—ought to be in every home every week.

By Which You May Have More Dresses and Smarter Dresses on the Same Allowance

We have arranged with the New York School of Dressmaking for a course to be conducted at this store for four weeks only. September 13 to Oct. 9.

This will provide a remarkable opportunity for the women of this city to learn to make their own dresses while making them. Come and let us explain to you how it will be possible for you to bring your own goods and make your fall wardrobe under the personal supervision of an expert from the New York School of Dressmaking.

Individual instruction, with each pupil working independently of the other, makes the work of greatest practical value.

Five sessions daily, so that your convenience may be suited as to the time you wish to come.

Only a limited number of enrollments may be made, so it is advisable for you to take advantage of this opportunity immediately.

The cost of the course of six lessons is only $3.00. Enroll at the Pattern Counter, First Floor.

Demonstration of Hall-Borchert Dress Forms—Next Week

You well know how difficult and generally unsatisfactory it is to try and be your own model and dressmaker at the same time. Have you never wished at such a time that you had someone, the exact counterpart of your physical self, who would relieve you from all the fatigue of standing for a fitting, and at the same time enable you to observe the effect and fit of your dress at every stage of the work, thus making a pleasure of dressmaking instead of a trial?

We will have a demonstrator with a complete line of Hall-Borchert Dress Forms with us all next week. Come in and see this greatest of all dress forms.

LADIES PLEASE TAKE NOTE that all next week an expert New York Corsetiere will fit and give talks on Madame Lyra Corsets. You are most cordially invited come and see and hear of the new corset fashions. —First Floor
